This year brought about many new changes in our school district. A new senior high school, Nathan Hale, was opened in the fall of 1965. The old Hale building was made into a new junior high school, the Frank Lloyd Wright School. The construction of a new elementary school was started. The Herbert Hoover School will be located in the city of New Berlin.

A new Initial Teaching Alphabet program was started in six first grades. This will be expanded to all of the first grades in the coming year.

The administration has begun a recreation program for handicapped children. Nearly fifty mentally and physically handicapped children have already taken part in the new eight-week program.

The most important thing the Board of Education is working on is the new thirty-year plan for school building and land acquisition for this school district. This plan is projected into the next thirty years for building more schools in the West Allis-West Milwaukee School District.

A C A D E M I C S

The towering structure of our faculty casts a shadow of thought over the student body. Provocation of individual thought in every facet of life is a principle aim of the educator. In order to provide intellectual stimulation for the students, they supplement their knowledge by continuing their own formal education. Learning is a continuing process. Teachers provide the initial incentive which motivates us to expand our knowledge. Reflecting, we realize the debt we owe to those who have invested their knowledge in our future.

GUIDANCE

Problems arising from the complexities of social change and the diversified needs of the increased high school population created a need for expanded guidance services

It is the aim of a guidance department to provide a continuous, coordinated service for the purpose of helping students develop insights in choice and decision making situations where present adjustments and future plans are involved

Since quite a complete guidance program has been developed over the past several years, we have concentrated this year on improving the continuity of relationship between the counselor, the homeroom, the classroom teacher, and the student. Counselors have been assigned to a class and will counsel with individuals in the group throughout senior high school

MUSIC

The exciting splash of color of the marching band, and the lively tunes of the hit Broadway musical, "The Sound of Music", were both facets of the music department through which the public got a chance to see the work done by the music students at Central this year. In reality, these activities were only a small part of the total picture. Behind the scenes students developed not only the skill of performance but also an appreciation for the values of music that will always stay with them. No member of the band, for example, will ever forget the soaring beauty of Wagner's "Lohengrin".

Offering a variety of arts and crafts courses, Central's art students are able to obtain a fine over-all view of art and the appreciation of art. Experimentation in different mediums enabled students to develop an individuality of style. From pottery to sketching, the students gained skill and appreciation

Mrs. Anderson previews a reading film for one of her reading lab classes. Students in 10th and 12th grade take this class for one semester

ENGLISH DEPT.

The basic function of the English department is to enrich the communication skills of all students. Competency in reading, writing, and speaking is a requisite in all other courses in the curriculum and is a necessity to the adult

The English department has attempted to develop a challenging developmental program which promotes growth in the skills of spelling, vocabulary, reading, sentence construction, paragraph development, and theme organization. At the same time, literary selections provide the "backbone of the English Program

This year Central provided an English Language Topics class for seniors. It was started for the benefit of the students not college bound. This class helps to give students a better knowledge of grammar, speaking, and light literature. Thus, it helps give students, who are not going on to school, a better background in the English Language

HISTORY DEPARTMENT

This year for the first time Central's PAD classes participated in a Productivity Motivation Program. Central cooperated with the Commerce department of the University of Wisconsin-Madison, to bring men from various major companies in the area to speak to the seniors on the phases of labor, business, finance, and industry. The object of this week of lectures was to show the students the importance of gaining training and skills and to develop interest in the economic growth of our country and their own families.

At the present time, the school system is trying to revise the curriculum for the social studies area.

Business Department Prepares Students For Future Vocations

This year Central's Business Department and its students have been very busy. The students who were best skilled in the business skills went to the Spencerian contest in April. At the contest they competed in such categories as advanced and beginning typing and shorthand, spelling, bookkeeping, and poise. Also there were five girls, three seniors and two juniors, who went to the Preview Career Convention. At this convention they learned about some of the newest business machines

"I will be able to get a job for any student who has the typing and shorthand skills," said Mr. Grove. Thus, anyone who is skilled at typing and shorthand will be able to get a job before he graduates

Mathematics and Science Curriculums Are Closely Coordinated For Best Results

Mr. Huenick pauses during an explanation in order to properly express his answer

The Mathematics program at Central has a distinct "modern flavor". The report of the "Commission on Mathematics" was the primary guidepost which was used in developing the present program. All of Central's mathematics teachers have participated in National Science Foundations summer sessions or institutes and are well prepared to handle the modern approaches to mathematics. The main objective is to offer a strong mathematics preparation, both in concepts and in skills.

The Science Department realizes the importance of doing everything possible to help the students use science to the fullest extent. More students this year are coming in on Saturday mornings for advanced experiments than they'd otherwise get in the classroom during a school day.

Since advanced math is used, slide rules, a very important instrument for science, were obtained for wholesale prices. Those students who wished to attend summer colleges for science were helped early in the year to apply for the proper college. This helps them to get a better understanding of science, and a taste of college life. A $\frac{1}{2}$ college credit is given them if the course is completed successfully.

The Science Club took a field trip to Allis-Chalmers and observed various ways in how science was applied in such a big company.

An assembly was given on 'This Atomic World' and discussed in two classes — the fifth hour Physics Class and the Advanced Science Class.

These are some opportunities provided for Central's science students.

Mr. Janikowski smiles during explanation of a drafting problem

The Industrial Arts Department offers a variety of courses in skill that range from offset printing to architectural drafting. Mr. Janikowski's classes of general drawing offer a basis for all industrial arts. The students learn to draw objects from different angles

The drafting section of the department is headed by Mr. Landgraf. This is divided into three courses: general drafting, technical drafting and most advanced architectural drafting. Under Mr. Sturm the graphic arts are presented. Here the printing classes are taught. The advanced classes do actual printing jobs for school district No. 1

The machine shop has a new member. A new instructor this year Mr. Lundin teaches a new course, power mechanics

In the woodworking shop, articles such as hi-fi cabinets, gun racks and lamps are made. Besides learning the fundamental processes of working with wood, new techniques in craftsmanship are learned. These skills can be used after high school

Under the supervision of the Home Economics department are the courses of Home Living, Foods, Clothing, and others such as Child Development and Family Meals

This was the first year a new class was begun. The first semester was Family Meals. This class had seven boys enrolled. Boys enrolled in a foods class hasn't happened for about six years. The second semester of this class is Child Development for girls

The Foods class had a Thanksgiving dinner and provided the Faculty Tea at Christmas time. For the tea all kinds of cookies were made by all and girls learned how to give such an event. This year has led to trips to the meat market and seeing how meat is butchered and the presentation of appliances from the Electric Company. The Home Living classes were highlighted by having speakers come in and by visiting a rented home. The speakers this year included a minister and priest to talk on marriage. The sewing classes had the experience of hearing from a textile buyer

Physical Education Curriculum Includes Health Classes For The First Year

Central's Driver Education course is taught in Room 100 by Mr. Small. In the class room, the student studies traffic laws, psychology of the driver, types of roads, how the car runs, insurance for the car, and road maneuvers

During the summer months a "behind the wheel" course is offered to all interested students in the area. Here the student learns various maneuvers and drives on different types of roads. Highway, expressway, and country driving are all included in the course

In the past eight years, the enrollment in the behind the wheel course has increased from 62 to 700 and the number of instructors from 2 to 16

Physical education helps young people to develop coordination and to maintain a necessary state of physical fitness. The sports in boys physical education include football, basketball, volleyball, and baseball. These sports not only increase stamina and endurance, but they encourage good sportsmanship and cooperation between players. Girls receive training in archery, tumbling, modern dance and badminton in physical education. These skills develop self expression, gracefulness, and individual dexterity. Physical fitness is necessary to the maintenance of a good mental attitude for learning

Most of the social life at Central is the result of Student Council work. Many of the dances were free of charge and paid for by Student Council.

Their Government, Student Council

The Student Council is one of the most important, if not the most important, club in school. The reason is that each homeroom has a representative in the council that can bring up any problems or grievances that come up in their homeroom. So, the Student Council can be considered the forum for student expression. The council is the student governing body of the school. Under the advisorship of Mr. Page and the leadership of Pete Elliott, it carries on various school activities: school dances after the games, homecoming, Christmas door decorations, the rules for putting decorations up and providing judges for picking a winner, they also have a $5 prize for the best door decoration. The council has several sales all of which benefit the students. Selling bookcovers, sweatshirts, ice cream, and the AFS candy are some of the projects that it undertakes. The past two years, the council has taken a trip to Madison to see the capitol and visit the university. The group might go again this year, or might visit some other place that is also significant. The council also provides a Peter Werner Scholarship annually to a college-bound senior boy and girl, for leadership and service to the school. For these reasons, Student Council should be considered the most important club to every boy and girl at Central.

Ice cream sales were one of the service projects performed by Student Council. Here Sue Borkowski and Sue Bonar sort ice cream for the day's sales.

Treasurer of Student Council, Sue Borkowski counts up the profits from this year's daily ice cream sales.

Electron transfer and gravitational-magnetic fields are of interest to Chemists and Weathermen and Central's Science Club members

The Science Club has their meetings under the direction of Mr. Stefanka and President Ron Kasprzak. When Ron is unable to attend a meeting, Vice-President Richard Burrow takes over. The club, which consists of sixty-five members, is also aided by Chris Meyers, who is treasurer, and Natalie Paalu, who busily helps the club by being secretary.

The Science Club has two main objectives. The first is to present areas of science that might be of interest to the members. The second is to present a new learning outside of the classroom. Thus when the Science club accomplishes these objectives it helps prepare the members for later activities with science problems.

Some of the Science Club's activities included plans for having a speaker, demonstration, or movie at each meeting. The members also participated in outside activities such as field trips to a television station, the conservatory, and Allis Chalmers. They also looked forward to their annual pizza party in May. Another of the club's activities is raising money for their treasury by selling candy and soda at basketball games.

Thus, the Science Club helps to prepare interested students for later activities in the realm of science.

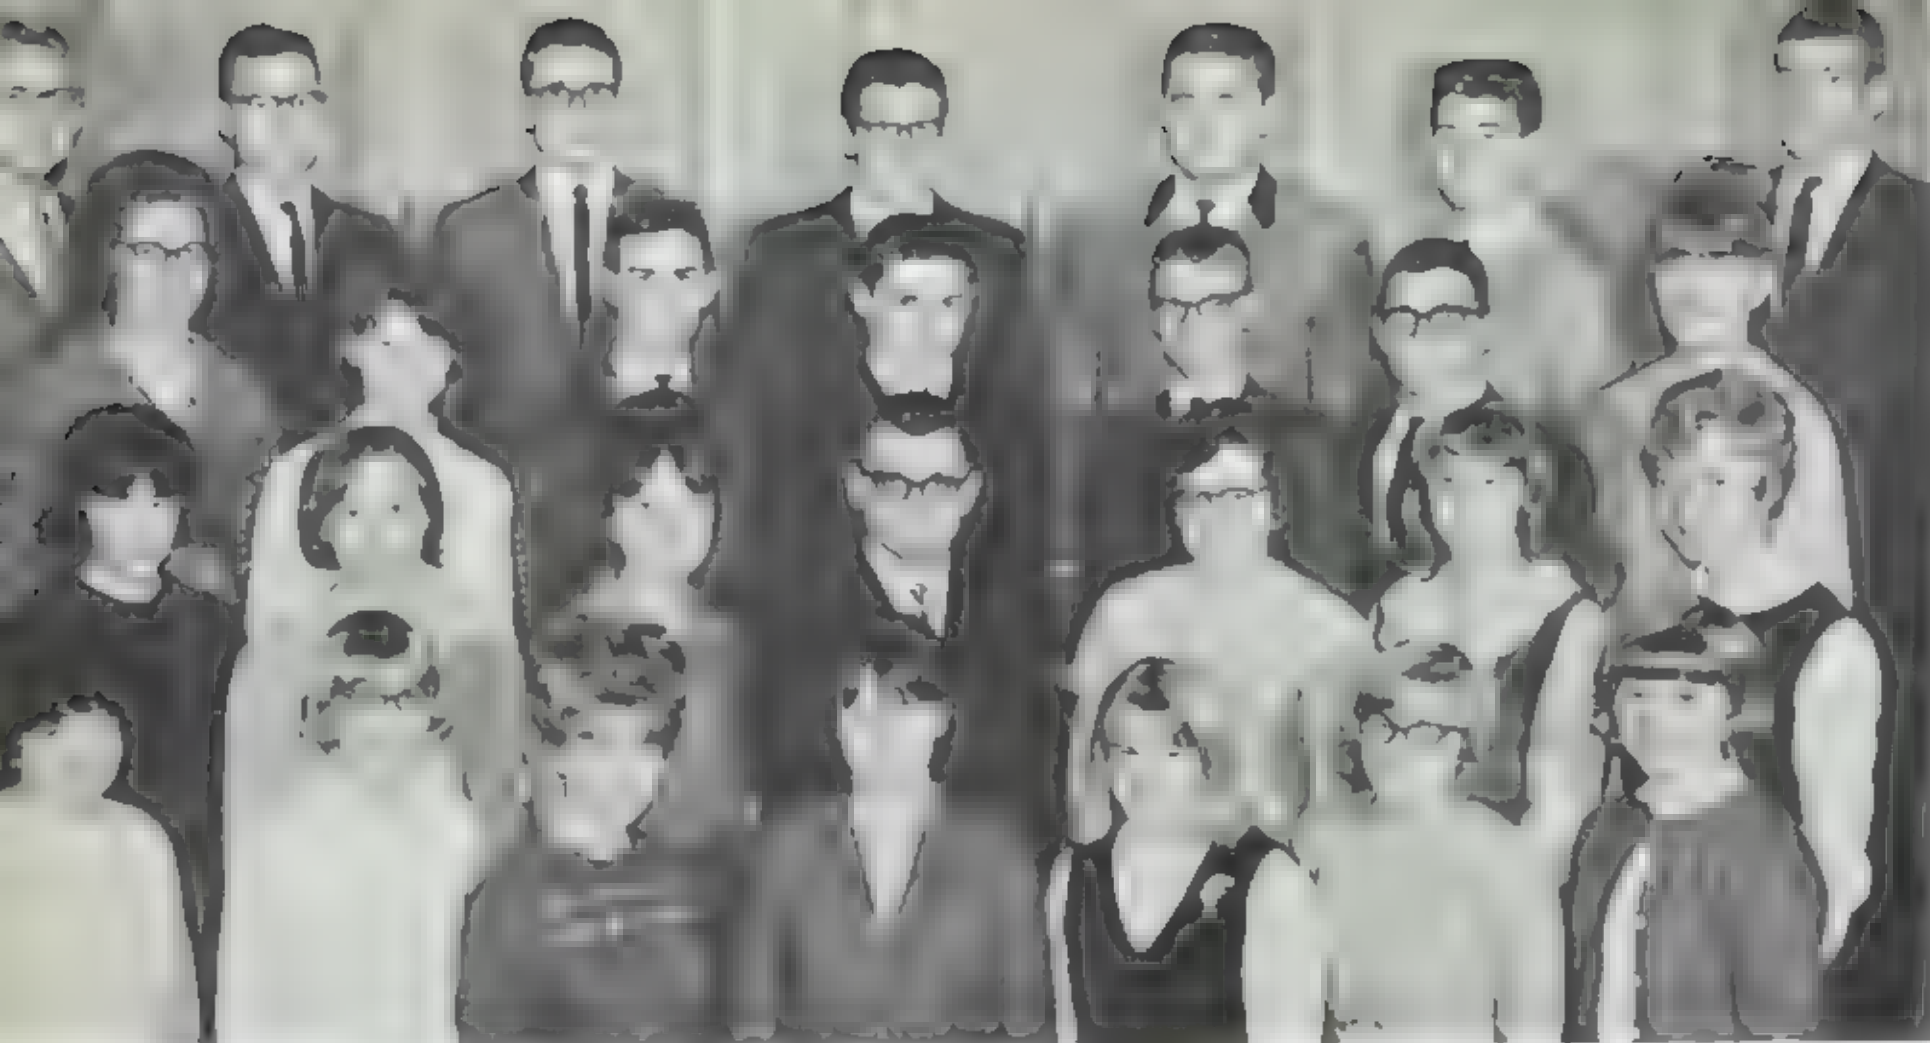

West Allis-West Milwaukee Science Seminar (Joe Berg)

The Joe Berg Society is a very select organization. Thirty students make application and a committee of management selects a limited number for participation. The purpose of this seminar is to stimulate or further an interest in science in the outstanding student.

Scholarship. Character. Service. Leadership

Priscilla Diehl and Sharon Mettemann, members of National Honor Society show seats available for this year's production of The Sound of Music.

For one of their service projects, the NHS took care of all ticket sales for The Sound of Music. Here pictured are Priscilla Diehl, Linda Heise, Darlene Meid, and Denise Liberato.

According to Mr. Wulz, Advisor of the Central Chapter, 'Membership in the National Honor Society has become recognized nationally as one of the highest honors that can be bestowed upon a high school student. Membership is, however, more than an honor, it carries with it a responsibility and should be considered the beginning of an obligation not merely the successful culmination of an effort to achieve recognition and honor

"Once selected for membership, a student is singled out. He should not only continue to demonstrate those outstanding qualities which brought about his selection, but he should also exert a new influence to improve conditions about him and promote those qualities: Leadership, Character, Scholarship, and Service for which National Honor Society stands

This year active members have handled the Mum Sales for the Homecoming football game, have sold basketball programs and checked coats at home games, sold candy for the Student Council, sold corsages for the Sweetheart Dance, handled all ticket sales for the musical production, The Sound of Music.

The emphasis by the members of the group is equal participation in all services rendered. In this way all can do the same amount of work. Any profits made from these activities went toward the fourth annual $300 scholarship given to a deserving senior who is planning on furthering his education. This student need not be a member of National Honor Society

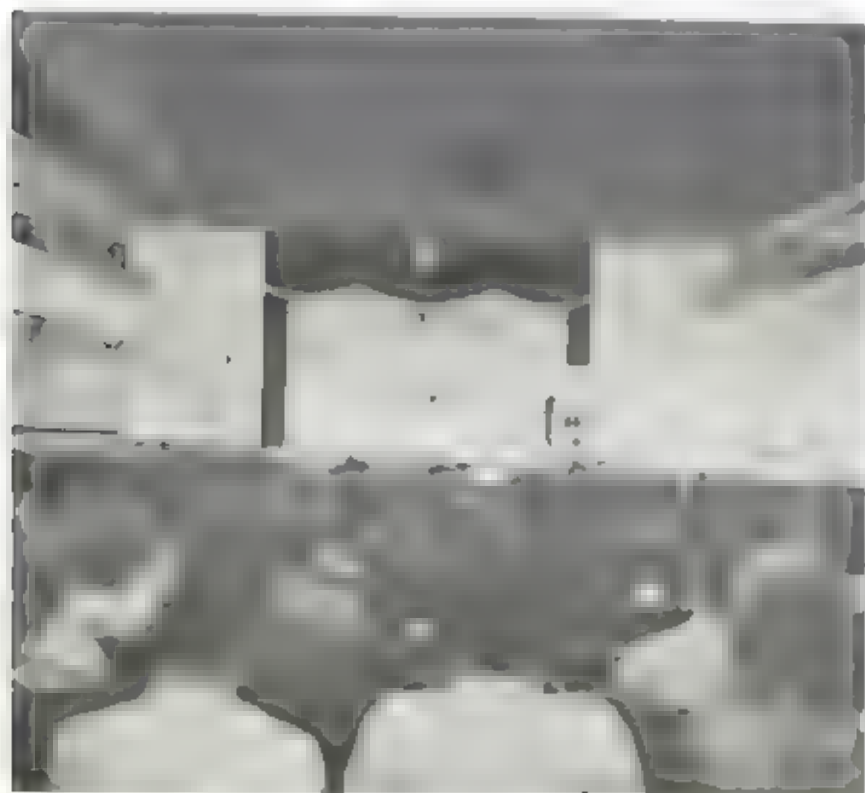

National Honor Society is one of the things Mr. Wulz devotes his many hours to. Here we see Kathy Kaczmarek discussing one of the projects that the club will undertake.

In January, these students participated in a sixteen school contest at West Bend. In March they traveled to Ripon College for another trophy Tourney

There are three main contests open to the student. If an A rating is achieved at the local level, the student enters the district level, if given an A rating there, he goes on to the state contest

LATIN CLUB CELEBRATED ANNUAL BANQUET

The Latin Club was organized to bring students who are interested in the Latin language together and to give them a better insight in the customs of ancient Rome. This is done at meetings through various movies of Rome and guest speakers. Under the guidance of Mrs. Plichta and president Kathy Kaczmarek, the Latin Club planned its annual banquet. Students who have had one or more years of Latin attended the dinner, dressed in appropriate Roman attire. The dinner was served as it was in ancient Rome. New Latin students acted as slaves. No silverware was used and guests reclined on the floor. Prizes were awarded for the best and most original Roman garb.

A big activity of the Latin Club is the Roman Banquet. Here Sue Hoiberg and Judy Scholz are about to enjoy part of the feast.

At the annual Spanish Club Christmas Party, Judy Gifford decided she would sample a tortilla. This was quite an experience for Judy!

Peggy Baerwald, an active member of Spanish Club, is shown adding the finishing touch to the Spanish Club's bulletin board.

The Spanish Club was organized to enrich the student's study of Spanish through the observation of films in the Spanish language meetings with people recently returned from Spanish speaking countries and organization and participation in fiestas, involving music, dancing, food, and customs. Under the direction of Mrs. Mak, the club held many interesting meetings, one of which centered upon a Peace Corps returnee who spent two years working in Columbia. The Spanish Club also produced a successful brownie bake sale to raise money for the fiesta.

"Future" Organizations Provide

Future Business Leaders of America, better known as FBLA, is a relatively new club at Central. Under the supervision of Mrs. Rosen dahl, the club carries out its purpose, to act as a service club to the home, school, community, and to develop competent business leadership. The only requirement to join this club is to have had a business course.

Some of the many activities and services performed are a Cake Party in September to organize the group, a typing pool for any teachers, selling hot lunch tickets, cake sales, and pen sales. In April some members of the club went to a convention at Green Lake. This helped them to find out what other chapters were doing.

This club is really a basic foundation for the business world.

Finishing off a prop to be used in their skit, are FBLA members Linda Zdanowski, president, and Marianne Simons.

Marie Binder, a member of FBLA, participated in a typing pool to help teachers with their work.

Bright Outlook For Tomorrow

paperback sales were a large project for the FTA this year. Jane Dorow and Sandy Gardner are restocking the book rack.

The thirty members of FTA under the direction of Miss Pischke help to inform students on the different aspects and special areas of teaching. This group offers service to Central students by tutoring in various courses. Members also help the teachers by correcting tests. Besides this, the FTA co-sponsored this year's Sweetheart Dance, sold paperbacks in the school library, worked as library aids, had several bake sales, and a taffy apple sale. Central's FTA is also active in the suburban and state FTA. During the year, various speakers visited the meetings to speak about their special areas of teaching.

The club offers a $100 scholarship to one deserving member at the end of the year. For fifty hours service to the club, a red apple pin is given. The student accumulating the greatest number of points and the senior member who has contributed the most to the FTA each receive a gold apple pin.

The president of FTA is Jane Dorow. Judy Gifford and Barb Beirle are co-vice presidents, Peggy Atkinson Corresponding secretary, Charlotte Titschler, recording secretary, Mary Schauer, Treasurer, Jan Janke, historian and Kathy Kaczmarek and Joanne Honeyager, suburban representatives.

The purpose of the Camera Club is to promote photography as a hobby and instruct the students in the use of dark-room equipment and the operation of complex cameras. The members learn the procedures of developing film and making prints.

The ten members, under the direction of Mr. O'Brien, take pictures of school life and activities. Some of these are used in the school newspaper and annual. To obtain funds, the Camera Club sells 8" x 10" prints to the students at 50 cents each.

These students have the honor of having their work printed in the newspaper and having it displayed on the club bulletin board.

This year's officers were: Ron Zabinski, president-chairman; and Tom Werner, secretary-treasurer.

Senior Executives Plan Graduation

Class president, Camille Charlier gives the podium to Dr. Szudy at the Senior Class assembly

The major concern of the Senior Executive Committee this year was planning the Senior Banquet and the graduation exercises. Many mornings were spent in deciding on the Senior activities of the year. The committee had charge of collecting the class dues and agreeing on the class gift. This year the money was added to a three year fund. The three classes that have contributed will have purchased an organ for the school. Another undertaking of the Senior Class Executive Committee was choosing the announcements and measuring the seniors for caps and gowns.

Central's Audio-Visual Club, which is directed by Mr. Rasmussen, is seldom in the limelight. It's eight to twelve members are constantly on the go because they are directly responsible for providing A V equipment for all academic and non academic classes and activities. Each day, these boys work with their director and the teachers to provide assistance and guidance in the operation of equipment for many other clubs and activities in school.

The members instruct the teachers and students in the use and care of all the equipment.

Pep Band is a select group of musicians from Central's Band. It is under the direction of Mr. Gandre and it is composed of approximately thirty persons.

The purpose of Pep Band is to instill school spirit in Pep Assembly spectators as well as our athletes. They do a very good job of this by playing their lively music at our pep assemblies, football games, and basketball games.

Pep Band is very important to Central High. The student body has become very dependent upon it. We look for it to lead us in the National Anthem and our school song as well as the peppy marches.

Thus, the Pep Band is a necessity in spreading school spirit at Central High School.

Pep band members provided musical enjoyment for many assemblies and sports activities.

Each of the many activities the band took part in needed hours of practice. Pictured above, the band students directed by Mr. Gandre work and practice hard.

The West Allis Central Band participated in the Christmas Concert. Other activities that it participates in are providing half-time entertainment at football games and during basketball season it plays at all home games.

Activities outside of school that the band participated in were a concert at John Dewey, UWM Homecoming Parade, and providing half-time entertainment at the UWM Homecoming game.

On February 24, the Band presented a Winter Concert and on May 17 they presented a Spring Concert.

They participated in the Annual Spring Concert in Cudahy. The winners of this concert went on to Oshkosh to participate in the state festival.

A Cappella Projects Its Voices

Consisting of both male and female voices, the A Cappella Choir performed a wide range of musical selections. Along with the songs came necessary drills on the fundamentals of rapid sight reading of music and correct singing habits. Under the direction of Mr. Reichl, the choir performed numerous concerts throughout the year. Together with the orchestra and chorus, the choir combined their voices to present the Christmas Concert of Handel's Messiah on December 16. Other musical productions include the annual Spring Concert and the musical, A Cappella members made up a good part of the cast in this year's musical, "The Sound of Music". The Music Festival was held to provide an opportunity for soloists and small ensembles from different schools to compete against each other for various awards.

This year Central's newspaper staff put out twelve issues of the newspaper with a total of 76 pages. This year the paper underwent a few changes. The first is they changed from letterpress printing to offset printing where the students do all the make-up work. This change enabled the WAMAGO to put out twice the number of pages for half the cost

The newspaper staff attended the Governor's Day Conference in Madison, which was held in the fall. They also attended the Scholastic Press Association Conference in Chicago during Thanksgiving vacation

It is extremely difficult to have a decent journalism program without the journalism class training ground," said Mr. Lehman, WAMAGO advisor. Mr. Lehman continued, "It is for this reason that the 1966-67 school year will bring Central High School students a much more complex journalism program". "Through the effort of this years editorial staff, I feel that the WAMAGO has a good foundation to build on next year," concluded Mr. Lehman

Some of the improvements were: 128 page book is now 176 pages, 4 pages of color pictures, thicker cover, 100 pound enamel paper instead of 80 pound, and reapportionment of pages in the yearbook. Areas of improvement this year inside the book were the addition of headlines to the pages, body copy to each activity, an increased number of "action" shots throughout the book, and the foundation for a future advertising section. The yearbook staff also attended the Governor's Conference in Madison and the Nation Scholastic Press Association Conference in Chicago

The other officers are: vice-president, Cindy Zych; secretary, JoAnne Baboshek; and treasurer, Gwyn Erchul. Under the leadership of Mrs. Shanebrook, the group produced our school play, "Arsenic and Old Lace." In general, the Thespians are organized to enable people interested in drama to use their natural acting abilities and at the same time learn the various important techniques involved.

Working with sound effects for the stage was part of the duties of Mike Howe and Dennis Chobanian.

Thespians, Stage Crew, Control Stage Productions

Stage Crew is the "on the go club". It is composed of approximately eight members, and everyone of them is kept on the go by aiding us in putting on our assemblies and school plays. For instance, they controlled the lighting, sound effects, and the moving of props in our school play, "Arsenic and Old Lace". With their help our assemblies and plays seem more realistic, and they leave a lasting impression on us.

No special awards are offered to this club. However, when a person is in Stage Crew, he is awarded with his own personal satisfaction of knowing that he helped his school.

Ushers Provide A Service

Nimble fingers were needed in order to become part of this select group. The ushers, under the direction of Barbara Halverson, were often seen at the entrances of the auditorium, frantically handing out programs. Dressed in white blouses and dark skirts, the ushers were posted at their doors for various performances throughout the year. Some of the events, which the ushers helped to make successful were: the annual Christmas Concert, various National Honor Society assemblies, the Spring Concert, and the musical production of "The Sound of Music."

Handing out programs at the school assemblies is part of the ushers' duties. Sue Vollman hands Mr. Bauernfeind a program to one of Central's functions.

CLASSES

Students are the purpose for the school's existence. The school derives unity from many different individuals working toward a common goal. Each passing year marks a milestone in the life of every student. Although having different interests, each pupil can recognize achievement through his own progress. Each endeavor in the intellectual struggle contains its own rewards. As one year's accomplishments fade into a shadowy past, the effects remain to be determined in the future.

Honor Students Receive Recognition

Many of Central's students were honored this year for scholastic achievement. Senior Lloyd Solberg was named a top science student by the Wisconsin Electric Power Company. Here, he receives a plaque from a top representative of the company and Dr. Szudy, principal.

Senior Sue Borkowski was one of the members of the National Honor Society who helped in selling mums at Central's homecoming against Cudahy. Each year the selling of the mums is sponsored by the National Honor Society.

NOTHING GOLD CAN STAY

Nature's first green is gold,
Her hardest hue to hold
Her early leaf's a flower,
But only so an hour
Then leaf subsides to leaf
So Eden sank to grief,
So dawn goes down to day
Nothing gold can stay

DIPLOMA

An end or a beginning?

There was a time when a high school diploma could be considered an end — sufficient education for the job ahead. But no more. Not in these days of ever-advancing technology and intense individual competition. Now, whether you're planning on a white-collar or blue-collar job, the requirements are much the same — more knowledge, more skills, more education. And that means study beyond high school.

The decision is yours. Make it carefully, for it will probably be the most important one you'll ever make. We at Allis-Chalmers hope it will be for further study. Deeply involved in space-age technology ourselves, we know first-hand the crucial importance of special skills and education. Just as you will, in the future—when it counts.
